

$3,566.67; and (4) a Class B Membership in CFFE Regulatory.

In addition to the above, holders of NYBT Class A Full Memberships would have the right to trade CSCE futures and option contracts. Owners of NYBT Class B Full Memberships would have the right to trade NYCE futures and option contracts.⁴ NYBT Class A and NYBT Class B Full Members, however, would have equal trading rights in any new contracts that were submitted by NYBT, or either of the Exchanges or any of their affiliates, and approved by the Commission for trading subsequent to the Initial Merger, with certain limited exceptions.

The proposal also provides that CSCE associate memberships would be converted to NYBT Class C Associate Memberships, NYCE FINEX licenses would be converted to NYBT Class D Associate Memberships, and NYCE FINEX-Europe permits would be converted to NYBT Class E Associate Memberships. Each NYBT Associate Membership would maintain the right to trade the same futures and option contracts that it currently is permitted to trade under the Exchanges' rules.

The Secondary Merger would take effect promptly after the full payment of the NYBT notes. Pursuant to the merger plan, CSCE and NYCE would merge with NYBT in accordance with the provisions of the NPCL, and CSCE and NYCE would no longer exist as separate corporate entities. The NYBT Class A and NYBT Class B Memberships would be merged into one class of full NYBT memberships which would have the trading rights previously held by both Class A and Class B Memberships and identical governance rights. The trading privileges of NYBT Associate Members would not be affected by the Secondary Merger.

NYBT Class B Full Members also would retain their associate memberships (Class A Memberships) in New York Futures Exchange, Inc. ("NYFE"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of NYCE. Memberships in NYFE will not be converted or exchanged for memberships in NYBT. Pursuant to the By-Laws and Rules of NYCE and NYFE, full NYCE members are authorized to apply for Class A Memberships in NYFE, and NYFE members are authorized to apply for Cotton Associate Memberships in NYCE. These rights of associate memberships will be unaffected by the merger.
